

1. Keep roots moist and cool (dried roots are dead roots).

2. Keep union 1.5 to 2 inches above vineyard floor.

3. Tramp loose moist soil firmly around roots in half-filled hole.

4. Cover union with soil to prevent drying out.

*Note: Uncover in June (or after the last risk of a late frost); but cover again in late fall to protect the union against frost. Un-cover the following spring. Depending on your climate, this might have to be repeated every year.
